

Who We Are

New Dawn Charter School enrolls students who are over-aged and under-credited in grades 9 through 12, and includes an intensive program that provides job training and social emotional health support. What sets us apart from other programs is that we do not limit student entrance with admission criteria. Everyone ages 16-21 are welcome!

We believe all students, regardless of where they are academically or personally, have a unique opportunity to hit a reset button and graduate with a New York State Education Department High School Diploma. Our organization employs tools necessary to help all students achieve this goal through a commitment to our core values: Respect, Responsibility, and Resilience.

What We Do

Once a student chooses New Dawn Charter School, an individual plan for success is crafted with the student in connection with an experienced staff member who is able to calculate and project a student's personal needs through careful audit of transcripts and projected graduation dates based on credit and/or exam transferrals.

Regardless of where a New Dawn Charter School student is at their date of entry, each student has the opportunity to gauge where the finish line is through extensive mentoring, social-emotional support, and academic programming.

The New Dawn Difference

What makes us different than other schools? We meet you where you are. It doesn't matter what happened in your other schools. What matters is right now. We tailor your schedule based on the credits you have. You get job training, college readiness advising, and a lifetime of memories. All are welcome, always.
